Nights will be spent either in tents equipped with a wood stove, or in bivouacs to observe beautiful stars. Camps are not pre-established, and require many tasks for set-ups, including preparing dogs' accommodations, assembling tents, cutting wood, drilling a hole in the ice ... despite your fatigue and cold weather.

Polar environment is hostile. Therefore, for safety reasons, the guide reserves the right to cancel or shorten the raid, or to modify the program in response to unexpected conditions, physical injuries, or low morale. Any handicap or medical problem should be reported during registration. Note that this information is only provided to help you prepare for your trip.

Life at Camp Primitif Aventure

Lifestyle in the camp favors nature and simplicity.

There is no electricity or running water. You will discover alternatives!

We like to share this lifestyle and show you that there are other ways to live. The important is to bond with nature. The camp implies the participation in certain daily tasks (water, dishes ...), for the good and comfort of all, including you.

You will be accommodated at Primitif Aventure camp in a traditional Mongolian yurt, very well adapted to nordic life. It is set up as a dormitory with a wood-burning stove in the center.

Meals will be served in the kota (traditional Finnish house).

There is a traditional Finnish sauna at the Primitif Aventure camp.

Restrooms are located outside of the yurt. Feces are treated in compost to protect the environment.

Let the adventure begin ...
